Commented [TN1]: Insert your (full) name here for students to practice writing. If you can, insert your katakana name above.

Commented [TN2]: I left this blank because in my self-introduction, I don't reveal where I'm from until later in the presentation.

Commented [TN3]: For these categories, I encourage them to take notes of what they could catch. I don't expect them to write in English and only have them write in simple Japanese. Feel free to change these categories to something else.

Commented [TN4]: They learned these Qs in ES. It's a nice way to help them remember and give them some guidance when asking Qs during Q&A after doing my self-intro. Of course, they can ask questions in Japanese, but I try to encourage them to ask in English.
NOTE: The reason why I included a lot of Japanese because I didn't want them to feel overwhelmed. Plus, they're freshly graduated students from ES so I don't expect them to know that much English yet.

Commented [TN5]: This section is great for students especially those who were timid to put their hand up during Q&A time. to ask me additional questions. They can either write it in English or Japanese.

My Self-Introduction

小学校で私の英語の先生は...

My ES ALT was...

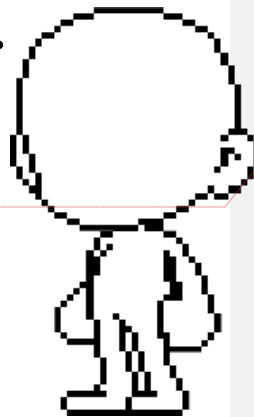

先生に知っておいてほしいこと [日本語 OK!]

- Fukushima
- Japan
- Iwaki
- Taira - 平
- Yoshima - 好間
- Akai - 赤井
- Chuodai - 中央台
- Satogaoka - 郷ヶ丘

Commented [TN6]: Replace these places with places from where you're currently situated. If you don't need it, you can delete this.

Commented [TN7]: I always like to know who taught them in ES and then tell their previous ALT that their student is currently at my school. I think it's a great way to know more about the student from their ex-ALT. Feel free to delete this if you don't think it's necessary.

Draw yourself!

Commented [TN8]: After they've finished with their self-intro, they can draw a picture of themselves.
